Three Score and Ten.

Prof. George Moredock Teegarden reached his 70th milestone along life's pathway on the 11th of March, and was deservedly honored by his friends in and around Pittsburgh. Part of the program on the occasion is reprinted from the Western Pennsylvanian:

A HAPPY EVENT

March 10th was the date and the Institution was the place of a unique surprise party for Mr. G. M. Teegarden who, on the next day, passed his seventieth milestone on life's journey.

Though the tireless efforts of Mrs. Henry Bardes and a faithful group of assistants, Mr. and Mrs. Teegarden were invited into a little birthday party by the graduating class at the Cooking School, where they had been invited to dinner that evening. This party was transferred to the Main Building where Mr. Teegarden was ushered into the chapel. There he found himself the center of a group of about 150 friends who had come to honor him. An elaborate and well-prepared program was carried out, much to the confusion and embarrassment of Mr. Teegarden.

The many friends of Mr. Teegarden will be pleased to know that the purse presented to him on that occasion was a very handsome one and that it contained $124.38.

BYGONE DAYS, BY SAMUEL NICHOLS.

I take pleasure in saying a few words about bygone days. Those days were, indeed, very sweet to remember, but they were very precious to those of us especially, who were taught by our dear "grand old man," Mr. G. M. Teegarden, as they were really stepping stones to our present happy circumstances.

I remember that my mother and I were escorted to Mr. Teegarden's schoolroom. He received us with very cordial greetings and gave me a crayon and beckoned me to write on one of the blackboards. I started writing my name Sam. In turn, he wrote Samuel in full. I was wondering when he said such a big name was mine.

Dear Mr. Teegarden, do you remember it?

With that stroke he set me on my way to my graduation.

Another important thing was that Mr. Teegarden placed me in the printing department, which was just started. I was one of the first boys that printed a monthly paper, the "Gazette," later changed to the "Holiday Gazette," and lastly and permanently called the "Western Pennsylvanian." The result is that I am still earning my bread and butter and also supporting my family.

Another thing, as important as above, is that I acquired a great liking for books, when I read Mr. Teegarden's "Raindrop." I am one of hundreds of graduates who acquired a lot by his teachings, not only in school-room but also through his lectures, sermons, talks and stories in the chapel and other halls.

Mr. Teegarden is really a living example as a teacher and companion. He is to the deaf boys and girls what mothers are to their children. Whereas the fruits of the labors of such indispensable teacher in those "bygone days" are evident, therefore, it should be encouraged to have a few more deaf teachers like him.

We, all members and friends of the Alumni Association of this school, are congratulating our dear friend, Mr. Teegarden, with gratitude and pride, and also wishing him many more returns of his happy birthday.

TO MR. G. M. TEEGARDEN, BY M. M. HAVENS.

Full seventy years have passed o'erhead, Yet Time has touched you gently, friend— Time's petted, pampered favorite you, while we, Your former pupils, here have fared the worse.

See! glints of silver in our hair, Some locks completely frosted o'er; Other with gloriously shining domes Reflecting knowledge that you helped instill.

How'er it be, you scarce have changed, Your step's still firm, your figure tall, Erect and proud your bearing yet; your eyes

Lighten up as in the days of long ago, When we with pencil and with slate Sat at our desks and learned from you. Dear friend, 'tis your birthday, so we're come

To honor you for all you've done for us, To count the candles on your birthday cake,

To touch your hand, to see you smile; Return the smile and say we hope You still are good for many a happy mile, With friends to meet and greet you all the while.

HOME NEIGHBORS, HENRY BARDES

I first met Mr. Teegarden 37 years ago, when I first came to this school as Instructor of shoemaking. I was best man at his marriage to Miss Celia Maul, and when they began housekeeping in their newly built house on Rebecca Street, I rented a room of them and lived with them for several years. I also had a room in their home on Ella Street at the time of my marriage. For 30 years, Mr. Teegarden has been a near neighbor, and I know him to be a good man, honest and true. My feelings towards him are the same as to a true brother. He is highly regarded by his neighbors. He is modest and retiring in disposition, but has a bad habit of belittling himself. I hope by this large gathering tonight, he will learn that we know he is not as small as he thinks he is, for we are gathered tonight to honor a great man, Mr. G. M. Teegarden.

THE INSTITUTION, BY MR. A. W. DOWNING.

I greet you tonight and offer congratulations in the name of the Institution family. No one is deserving of more sincere congratulations than you, both for what you have done for the deaf of Western Pennsylvania and for the sort of a man you have proved yourself to be. You have shown yourself a worker, not a shirker; in fact "work" is your middle name. You have been busy in season and out of season, not only doing well all the duties that have fallen to you as a servant of this school, but always ready to fill the breach when there has happened to be a gap in the ranks. The printing office and the Western Pennsylvanian must feel that they owe much to you for their success, for when the need was dire there was T. G. Arden who could be counted on to come to the rescue, and that with efficiency.

In other respects you have been also of much service to this School, till, like Robinson Crusoe's man, Friday, you have come to be the handy man about the place. And all this has been going on since long before many of us became identified with this School. You have seen them come and go till your eyes must have wearied of the long procession. And you must have scratched your head now and then and wondered "How old is George?"

By the law of chronology you should now be showing signs of wear and tear, yet I leave it to your many friends who are here tonight to do you honor, that you do not look one whit older than when they first knew you. You have not even reached the age of Shakespeare's "lean and slipped pantaloon"—except the leanness that Nature has bestowed upon you—a characteristic, by the way, that always seems to go with the wiry man.

There is a suspicion among your friends that you have discovered what luckless Ponce De Leon was unable to find—the fountain of eternal youth. Or, else, you have found some chemical formula that keeps the bloom of youth in the cheeks and elasticity in the step. You must be very unpopular with the medical fraternity, for none of us can recall when they paid you a professional visit.

You go about your daily tasks with a vim and energy worthy of a very much younger man. You double and sometimes treble your work. With you it is always "full steam ahead!" We are proud to do honor to such a man, such a friend tonight. May your birthday anniversary but remind you that:

The lamp of your life still burns ablaze, You've gone one more step toward the goal. And the life at its best is a maze, The fruits are a much strengthened soul.

THE FRATS

In the early days of the Frats, there being such a number, it was necessary to pick the right man to lead off. That man was Mr. G. M. Teegarden. As a Frat had to be under 55, he was ineligible, yet he came in as a social member to help out.

Mr. Teegarden is a strong debater and goes after the points hammer and tongs. I wish to read a birthday greeting written by T. G. Arden himself, which is appropriate to this occasion.

A BIRTHDAY GREETING

Another year has rolled around, And peace and blessings still abound; A year but adds unto the throng Of joys, of laughter and of song. What though there be a clouded day And mist obscure the sun's bright ray It adds but to the spice of life, It quickens more the zest of strife. Our peaceful days we do not count; Only our woes we're wont to flout. Ah, let us think but of our joys And woes shall be but small annoy. For all our smiles and all our tears Make up the rosary of years. So fate brings thorns with roses sweet— Blossoms of spring with winter's sleet, And blends our sighs as we go 'long With the sweet cadence of a song. So now, may this thy natal day Be reckoned as a roundelay, And summing up we surely find The year has been to thee most kind. —T. G. Arden.

THE P. S. A. D., BY MR. FRITZGERS

I want to tell you about Mr. Teegarden, who has been always willing and active to give us good lectures in the P. S. A. D.

You have seen him and heard him so often that you think he cannot say anything new or do anything new that will interest you. Yet he always has something fresh on hand.

I ask you to think of him a little while this evening and see if we can make him cheerful. My sincere and hearty congratulations to you from the Pittsburgh Local Branch of the P. S. A. D.

TEEGARDEN, BY H. L. TERRY

What! three-score years and ten, and with us still, We in our forties, who may think we're old, May look on you upon your distant hill— Must patient be to hear you laugh or scold. Yes, three-score years and ten—a hale old age, Our friend and teacher, such is yours tonight, And looking back, remember, page on page, We find our lessons while you guide us right; But now another page 'tis yours to turn, And, lo! what lesson does the turning teach? Upon that whitened brow we look and learn A life of goodness no one can impeach! O, poet-teacher, friend to all, and guide, 'Tis not alone the years, but service done To others, who, like you, have been denied The joy of hearing, bids us all, as one, To gather here with love and wishings well. Voicing for others, who too far to come, The love and praise with which their bosoms swell— So we are here tonight with you—at home.

THE WESTERN PENNSYLVANIAN, BY RLMER D. READ.

Tonight we celebrate the seventieth milestone of our good friend, Mr. Teegarden. Not as having reached the final goal, but as a man still striving onward, still carrying on, do we greet him with all our sincerest affection.

Some one has said: We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths; In feelings not in figures on a dial. We should count time by heart throbs; he most lives Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best.

These words are true today in respect to our co-laborer and friend. He has lived and lived well. He helped to lay the foundations of our school, the beloved Alma Mater of many of you. Thirty years ago he initiated the work of editing the Western Pennsylvanian, which follows you out from these pleasant halls into your homes and keeps told those fond recollections of long past yesterdays. Again today the columns of the Western Pennsylvanian bring you cheer from the pen of our mutual friend, to whom we give our warmest, heartfelt greetings on his seventy years of youth.

As it were, the following stanza typifies the spirit of the man we all admire.

"I see from my house by the side of the road, By the side of the highway of life, The men who press with ardor of hope, The men who are faint with the strife, But I turn not away from their smiles or their tears— Both parts of our infinite plan; Let me live in the house by the side of the road And be a friend of man."

PRESENTATION OF PURSE BY MRS. HENRY BARDES.

MR. TEEGARDEN:—To show the love and the high regard we hold in our hearts for you in the great achievement you have accomplished in the last forty-six years as a teacher of the deaf, also the love and deep interest you have continued to show in the welfare of the pupils after they have left this school, we, the teachers and officers and ex-pupils of the W. P. I. D. present you with this purse, with the sincere wish that you may be spared to celebrate many more happy birthdays in our midst.

FOR AULD LANG SYNE

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot, and never brought to mind? Should auld acquaintance be forgot and the days of auld lang syne? For auld lang syne, my dear; For auld lang syne: We'll drink a cup of kindness yet, For auld lang syne."

AN APPEAL.

We hope the JOURNAL readers will contribute to the very worthy cause set forth in the appeal of Mr. Tse Tien Fu.

Nationality should not play a part in helping our brethren who are deaf. All the world of deaf-mutes are brothers and sisters. Their concern and trouble should be ours. Let us all help in conferring upon one or more deaf-mutes the blessings of education.

Contributions sent to E. A. Hodgson, Editor DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, P. O. Station M, New York City, will be publicly acknowledged, and forwarded promptly.

APPEAL OF THE HANGCHOW PRIVATE SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF.

The school for the Deaf in Hangchow has been running for seven years. There are many students who are anxious to come. But we are in short of fund, we are not able to receive them all. We feel very sorry that we have to turn them away.

Some time ago we received $75.00 through Silent Worker toward the fund of our school. We are indeed grateful. Our students will never forget the kindness of our foreign friends.

At present we are sending out an appeal through DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL in hope that those who are interested in our Deaf School in Hangchow may be willing to contribute some money to help the school in order that we may receive more students. The deaf through the agency of our work may also receive the Gospel. Those who desire to contribute please send this money to Mr. Edwin A. Hodgson.

Sincerely yours, TSE TIEN FU.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

On account of my eyes, I have been kept from reading and writing for some time.

The past month there have been several socials, birthday parties, and the big N. F. S. D. Masquerade.

The Masquerade of Washington Division, No. 46, N. F. S. D., on the night of February 21st, was great, and it was a financial success.

The prize winners were Mrs. Vernier, Miss Colby, Mr. Hannan and Mr. Flood. The judges were Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Hannan and Mr. Schwaroski.

It is a fact that Washington, D. C., the nation's capital, as yet has no Branch of N. A. D.

Had not the N. A. D. been established the deaf would not, I believe, have progressed as they have today. N. A. D. helps to expose the impostor, who preys upon the public under the pretense of being deaf and dumb.

It is hoped that the deaf of Washington may soon be able to get together to pull the long looked for Branch into life.

I think it would be a good idea to have a Branch, so it would make the N. A. D. membership stand more firm.

The rhythm of repetition of signs and stamping of feet played by the Gallaudet Rooters at the Basket Ball games is being copied. It was seen practiced by the hearing at several high schools. The following item appeared in the Star of this week: "What is and what isn't rhythmic foot exercise puzzles school heads. Is rhythmic stamping a foot exercise? A principal of one Washington high school contends it is."

The Seventh Anniversary number of the Jewish Deaf, of Jan.-Feb., 1922, shows improvement and real progressiveness in contents and in its make up. The Board of Editors are to be congratulated for the results thus far achieved. It is not solely for the Jewish Deaf of New York, but also to the general deaf as well. For the good cause the deaf are kindly urged to subscribe.

The Society of St. Barnabas Mission of St. John's Episcopal Church was re-organized February 19th. The elected officers were:

President, W. E. Marshall; Vice-President, H. S. Edington; Secretary, Mrs. Colby; Treasurer, J. Edelen, re-elected.

The St. Barnabas Society meets the second Wednesday evening of each month, at the Parish House on 16th Street, cor. H. Street.

Mrs. Vernier and Miss Colby entertained the young deaf society at a George Washington Party, Wednesday evening, February 22d.

Games were played. One of them being: "A—old woman on—bent—Put on her— and out she went," "my son," she was heard to say, "how shall we—to-day."

The guests were to fill in each blank a word consisting of the same four letters they could get to suit the sentences. The letters were vile, evil, veil, levi and live.

The dining table was adorned with hatches and cherries. Each handle of the hatches bearing the inscription "I cannot tell a lie."

At the table each guest gave interesting anecdotes on General George Washington and the cherry tree.

"God ordained Washington to be childish that he might be the 'father of his country.'" "Washington is to Democracy what the early Saints were to the church."

"The United States were fostered by him and are a great monument to him."

"The name, 'father of his country,' was given him by the Holland Dutch."

One of the guests who possesses an abundant supply of red hair firmly argued, but proudly asserted that the hair of George Washington was red too. Another guest claimed he received his last name "cherry" from the tree that Washington felled and proved that the hair of the "father of his country" was brown. From a volume in the State Library, entitled "Recollections and Private Memoirs," by G. W. P. Custis, we find that Washington's hair was hazel brown and his eyes light grayish blue.

At the close of the merry festival a chain story was given. The first guest opened the story. "There was a poor man who went to Spain to see the King and Queen." The next guest told the same and added "To ask the King and Queen for gold, diamonds, etc., to purchase the ship," and so on until the last guest closed the story. "The land was discovered, and after returning to Spain he was married to a princess."

The Washington papers say that the Gallaudet College baseball squad looks like good material. With six veterans and many promising candidates, coach Hughes expects to turn out a strong nine.

The Calvary Baptist Church is raising a fund to purchase 12,445 square feet of ground upon which will be erected the auditorium. The deaf members of the church and friends have pledged themselves to about seven hundred dollars.

The Ladies' Guild and St. Barnabas Mission met for the first time in the Parish House of St. John's Episcopal Church, on Wednesday evening, March 8th, with an attendance of twenty-eight. Important business was transacted as to the wants and needs of the Mission. Thanks to both societies for their help, which will be appreciated by Rev. Mr. Pulver and Lay Reader Orman.

Herman Kohn, known as the "globe trotter," is back in Washington and is at his old job—tinner, but expects to return to Alaska before next year. He says the business in Alaska is more prosperous—nine dollars a day.

Mr. W. K. Liddy's Washington friends extend their sympathy upon the death of his wife.

Employment conditions among the deaf here are much better than at any time in the past twelve months.

Mrs. Ballard's daughter, May, who was a head nurse for the Navy Government for over three years in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, has returned home to Washington, D. C. Jacob Eskin and his wife entertained twenty-one old friends at their new flat February 24th. All reported having a good time.

A baby girl arrived at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collette, of Lansing, Mich. It will be remembered that the mother of the little one beautifully rendered the poem, "Michigan, My Michigan" at the banquet of the Detroit N. A. D. Convention, in 1920. Felicitations!

Charles F. Creager, farm hand of Prof. Drake of the Kendall School garden, was a visitor at the frat masquerade.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Unsworth are home in Washington from Akron, Ohio, where they have been for a year living with their married son and family.

Interest is growing in the community Bible Contest being conducted by the Bible department of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs, the Star co-operating. Any deaf who desires to enter the contest may see the committee, Delivery Dept. of Woodward and Lathrop.

At the home of Mrs. Hall, a card club, under the leadership of Miss Nora Nanny, was given Thursday evening of last week.

MRS. C. C. COLBY.

ZIEGLER IS ALL RIGHT

EDITOR JOURNAL:—My attention has very recently been called to a news item appearing in the Philadelphia column of the JOURNAL, under date of March 9th, emanating from an enthusiast connected with the N. A. D. in Philadelphia. The authorship of this item was subsequently repudiated by Mr. Reider in his news of March 16th. The item in question had reference to the status of Mr. R. M. Ziegler and the N. F. S. D.

For justice and fair play I desire to state that Mr. Ziegler never has opposed the N. F. S. D. I happen to know that positively. A few years ago I had his application for membership in the N. F. S. D. Just as he was preparing to take medical examination he was suddenly taken ill, and as he was already near the age limit for entrance the prolonged illness precluded his admittance into the Society.

It is proper to advertise an Association under right methods, but to resort to personalities in the soliciting line is going too far, and the public is likely to recall whether Barnum was right after all.

WM. L. DAVIS.
PHILADELPHIA, March 20, 1922.

Mrs. Isabella Chenault Argo.

Mrs. Isabella Chenault Argo, Superintendent of the Colorado School for the Deaf and the Blind, at Colorado Springs, died March 6th, of pneumonia. She succeeded her husband, Dr. William Kavanaugh Argo, on his death last April, and gave her heart and soul to the work of carrying on the school along the lines mapped out by him, and to the fulfillment of his dream of making it a model in buildings and equipment as it already was in educational features. Two or three weeks before her death she had the satisfaction of seeing the final features in the plans of Dr. Argo approved by the Board, and preparations begun for carrying them out the coming summer; what a happiness it would have been to her to have been permitted to direct their completion!

The Board also showed its appreciation of her excellent work by re-electing her as Superintendent for another term of two years.

Mrs. Argo came to the Kentucky School as a bride in October, 1886. Lovely in person and in character, she won all hearts, and was a favorite at the school, and in social circles of the city. The years that followed were happy ones for her and her husband, but were all too brief, for in 1893 Dr. Argo's health failed and by advice of his physician he went to Colorado for relief. It was then that Mrs. Argo showed the fine courage that distinguished her in her later years; putting behind her the life of carelessness ease of the social woman she entered actively upon the work which claimed her best energies to the end. She took training and was appointed a teacher here for the session of 1893-94. The next three years were spent in Colorado, but when the rare atmosphere affected the health of her son, Robert, making it advisable to remove him to a lower altitude, she came back to Danville with her two boys and was a member of our faculty from 1897 to 1899. Returning to Colorado, she taught in the school at Colorado Springs from 1899 to 1902. Later she was matron of the Colorado School and assistant Superintendent during the last two years of Dr. Argo's life, when ill health made an official assistant necessary.

As to the manner in which she filled the position of Superintendent two expressions have come to us, both from people unusually well qualified to judge. One wrote "Mrs. Argo is a power," and the other "Mrs. Argo is splendid." Certain it is that she worked tirelessly, efficiently, and with exalted aim; perhaps she found in this a refuge from her sorrow.

Dr. and Mrs. Argo were Kentuckians who never quite got over a certain homesickness for their native State. In one of his last letters the Doctor wrote "Kentucky is home of homes." But Colorado was good to them and they were deeply appreciative of the health, the splendid friends and the great opportunity for service that they found there. They were happy until the blow fell—the death of their younger son, Dr. William Chenault Argo, just graduated from the medical department of Harvard University, who died of influenza in 1918. Then followed at brief intervals the deaths of the elder son, Robert Givens Argo, also a Harvard man, and a young lawyer who had early achieved success, and of Dr. Argo, grown weary of the battle against ill-health after his sons were gone. The passing of Mrs. Argo removes the last member of a remarkable family. They have left their impress on the schools of two States and helped to shape the educational policy of the profession in the nation. Tributes of respect and affection will be paid by colleagues who labored with them, or knew of them, but the grief that will endure longest will be that of the deaf for whom they did so much, and to whom they gave the supreme gift of sympathy and friendship.—Kentucky Standard.

Deaf-Mutes' Journal

NEW YORK, MARCH 30, 1922.

EDWIN A. HODGSON, Editor.

THE DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL (published by the New York Institution for the Instruction of the Deaf and Dumb, at 163rd Street and Ft. Washington Avenue), is issued every Thursday; it is the best paper for deaf-mutes published, it contains the latest news and correspondence; the best writers contribute to it.

TERMS.

One Copy, one year, - $2.00
To Canada and Foreign Countries, - 2.50

CONTRIBUTIONS.

All contributions must be accompanied with the name and address of the writer, not necessarily for publications, but as a guarantee of good faith. Correspondents are alone responsible for views and opinions expressed in their communications.

Contributions, subscriptions and business letters to be sent to the Editor, THE DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York City.

"He's true to God who's true to man: Wherever wrong is done To the humblest and the weakest 'Neath the all-beholding sun, That wrong is also done to us, And they are slaves most base, Whose love of right is for themselves, And not for all the race."

Specimen copies sent to any address on receipt of five cents.

THE distressing information, in our Philadelphia correspondence, that Mr. Robert M. Ziegler has had a stroke of paralysis, will be read with sorrow by a multitude of friends. We trust he will have a speedy and complete restoration to his usual robust health and strength.

Mr. Ziegler has for forty or more years been one of the leading deaf men in affairs concerning the deaf of Pennsylvania. His influence has been for the good of the deaf through all the years since his graduation from Gallaudet College—and even before he graduated, as he was one of the founders of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf. At all of its conventions since the Society was organized in Harrisburg, he has been present and taken a prominent part in its deliberations. He has been active, earnest, and progressive, and his whole career has been marked by consistency, faithfulness, and efficiency.

The editor of the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL has always esteemed him highly as a good friend, and joins with all the others who know him in the hope and belief that his recovery will be rapid and complete.

THE basket ball team of the Nebraska Institution has covered itself with glory, and incidentally reflected much credit upon the deaf, by winning every one of its four games against the best teams of hearing players that the schools of the state could muster at a recent tournament at the State Capital. In athletics the deaf usually are near the front.

Last week our New York Institution basket ball team journeyed to Hartford and captured a silver cup in competition with the American School for the Deaf quintet, and at the same time in a New York court the girl players of Fanwood were defeated by a narrow margin by a girl quintette of the New Jersey State School at Trenton. The present generation of boys and girls at our schools for the deaf seem to be living up to the ancient motto—"Mens sana in corpore sano"—a sound mind in a sound body.

Letter of Thanks.

GARFIELD MEMORIAL HOSPITAL, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21, 1922.

EDITOR OF THE DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL:—The Vienna teachers of the deaf desire to express their heartfelt thanks to the American teachers and friends of the deaf who saved them from starvation this last winter. The amount sent averaged ten dollars apiece to forty-nine teachers, but they arranged it among themselves so that the more needy received more than ten dollars and the less needy received less. Most of the money came from teachers and pupils of American Schools for the Deaf, to whom I appealed directly by letters to the heads of schools; but some money came from friends who read my appeal in the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, the Volta Review, and the Silent Worker. Therefore I am asking these periodicals to publish this letter of thanks. I have been a patient in this splendid hospital about three weeks, I am much better now, and hope to be able to return to my home at Kendall Green in a few days.

Yours faithfully,
EDWARD ALLEN FAX.

OMAHA.

The Annual State basket ball tournament opened at Lincoln, Neb., Thursday, March 9th. The Nebraska School for the Deaf basket ball team took part. On account of their age and weight, they were put in Class G. They arrived in Lincoln, Wednesday. Played Campbell High School, Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock, and won by 10 to 6. The Nelson team was their next opponent at 11 A.M., Friday, and the Nebraska School boys again bagged another victory, by the score of 19 to 2—in fact, they walloped that team. At 8 o'clock that evening, they were pitted against Dunbar and grabbed their scalps, 18 to 8. The final game was with Talmage at 2 P.M., Saturday, and once more the N. S. D. boys carried off the blue ribbon. Winning four straight games, they brought home a beautiful silver loving cup to remain permanently in their possession. They are elated over the result and have something to feel extremely proud of. Quite a crowd from the Nebraska School attended. The men on all the other teams but one, were large and beside them the deaf boys looked very small. The players going to the tournament were: Nick Peterson, Captain; Hans Neujahr, forward; John Scheneman, centre; Marvin Campbell and John Blaha, guards; Floyd Zabel, Edmund Buman and Wayne Boyer, subs. Mr. Jackson, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Comp, who is their coach, was coach at the Newton, Kansas, High School the last two years. His team won the trophy each time, so this makes the third year that he coached a victorious team. All other Omaha teams enlisted at Lincoln lost out. The game with Talmage was a most exciting one. The deaf boys refused to let their rivals score. They had to be contented with only three free throws. When the score stood 9 to 3 in favor of the N. S. D., the deaf lads tightened their defense to such an extent that Talmage was unable to score. The N. S. D. players guarded their opponents' basket by throwing the ball among themselves, which kept Talmage waiting for about two minutes for the deaf boys to make the offensive. The spectators caught on this clever scheme of the "silents" and applauded and yelled. Then Talmage boys woke up and started to hustle after the ball, but the whistle blew and the score stood 9 to 3. F. Arthur Clayton, accompanied by Misses E. R. Haaser and Swan, motored to Lincoln, for the final game. Superintendent F. W. Booth and Miss Stacia Kuta were also there. Many of the resident deaf in Lincoln and surrounding towns, were present when the deaf boys played.

Mrs. Richard C. Bingham entertained the ladies' sewing circle on the afternoon of March 21st. They finished a comfort in record-breaking time, after which a delicious lunch was served. Mrs. Bingham is president of the club, which is now in its second year.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom L. Anderson were host and hostess at the March meeting of the Mid-West Chapter at the Iowa School for the Deaf, on the 18th. The weather was very unfavorable, except for the Omaha Taxi Companies. The manager of the Yellow Cab Co. declared that they made the biggest profits in their history on that night. But nearly all the members of the chapter braved the wind and rain and were not disappointed. The School library was gay with green and white crepe paper fancies and cut-outs and a profusion of ferns from the greenhouse. "500", the chapter's favorite diversion, proved as popular as ever. Dainty and appropriate refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Long took first prizes, a deck of cards and pongee handkerchief, and Jas. R. Jelinek was given the booby prize, an Irishman's clay pipe.

The Harmony Club was entertained by Miss Stacia Kuta and Ed. Cody, of Lincoln, Wednesday evening, March 22th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Cuseaden. (This was written in 1922, not 1923).

Gerald Brant is back in Omaha after nearly a year's absence. He has been living on the fat of the land, with relatives in Iowa and Illinois, and if he can not find a job soon he will go back to Illinois. He has just sold his estate, left by his mother, who died recently.

Mr. H. D. Drake, The Sphere of Athletics
Mr. Edwin A. McNeal, The Student Without a "G"
Mr. Ladislav S. Cherry, Enthusiasm
Mr. Theodore W. Griffing, Glory on the Sideline

The affair is under the direction of the dining-room committee. The preparatory men acted as waiters, having previously been groomed in the niceties of the part by a member of the committee.

The guests gathered in Chapel Hall and entered the dining room in the order of seating. Alumnus and undergraduate were placed alternately.

The menu was excellent, especially from a culinary standpoint. The speeches were optimistic and inspiring. Professor Drake made the principal address. In it he explained the true function of athletics in a college, and how we should be on our guard against letting it assume undue importance, while at the same time not allowing our zeal to abate one jot.

The Howard Trophy was not presented as is customary, Dr. Ely wishing to have more time to make the choice.

Examination results were given out by Dr. Ely, in chapel hall, on Saturday morning. It was announced that those who had failed to pass in all their subjects would be under study hour regulations until re-examinations.

The cinder path is being cleared of weeds and smoothed out in preparation for track work. The track team is being coached by Marshall, '04, and expects to enter the Penn Relay with a winning stride. The principals of the mile relay have not yet been definitely fixed upon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Bjorlee were visitors on Sunday, March 26th, coming in their Buick car from Frederick, Maryland, where Mr. Bjorlee is principal of the Frederick School.

The first baseball game of the year resulted in a tie, 9-9, between Gallaudet and a team representing the Blarney Hall Military Academy. The game was called at the end of the tenth inning, so that the players could attend the Athletic Association banquet hall that evening.

Gallaudet was unable to solve the visiting hurler's offerings until the game was well advanced. Lahn was touched for several runs early in the game.

Markel broke the ice in the eighth inning, when he singled sharply to centre with two men on bases. Boatwright hit a homer which cleared the track in deep right field. The ninth inning saw four more runs pushed across the plate. Boatwright tripled, but the others failed to connect with the ball, so his hit did not help any.

For the first game of the season Gallaudet did very well. Captain Boatwright, Markel, Lahn, and Danofsky, played best for Gallaudet. The box score of the game is not available.

In tryouts held in the this city, Orman was the only Gallaudet man to qualify for competition in the South Atlantic Championship meet held in Baltimore last Saturday. In the finals we met an opponent farther advanced in the scientific tricks of the game and this did much to help Orman lose his match.

ALBANY, N. Y.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Held, of Watervliet, was thronged for the Jollification Saturday evening, March 18th, the arrivals coming early and staying late. Enthusiasm on the part of the guests and intelligent courtesy on the part of the committee, consisting of Mrs. Decelle, Mrs. Gilboe and Mrs. Julien, were very marked, there certainly appeared to be nothing left undone that could make such a place worth attending.

It was a "Jollification" in everything that the word conveys. Satisfaction was expressed in the interest of the guests and the practically definite assurance of mingling in social gatherings with the appearance of the warm weather.

Right here it might be said that the guests are optimistic over the prospects of good times to be had during the year, particularly over the friendliness developing as a result of the jollification. No one can leave the same with the feeling that a real honest effort has not been made to get better acquainted with all they came in contact with.

Although the total receipts of the Valentine party held by No. 51 are not yet in the hands of the treasurer, it is estimated that it will realize about fifty dollars as a result of the sale. No. 51 contributed to the Jewish war relief drive—the fund which is to save the lives of countless little children in the late struggle.

It is to be doubly commended that its members have already given to the limit of their means for this cause; and that it may be free from the stigma of having failed in a task of brotherly love and kindness—something of which it has never yet been guilty.

The success of former chairmen who have worked in entertainments for No. 51, will no doubt be considered insignificant compared with the excellent work of Chairman Paul Sack. The local division is gratified at what he has accomplished.

Mr. Decelle, of North Troy, was unmistakably surprised Saturday evening, February 26th, when forty-eight of his friends invaded his home, they having gone there to celebrate his birthday. Delicious refreshments, bringing to a close a most pleasant event, were served under the direction of Mrs. Decelle, Mrs. Julien, who had given orders that the culinary room should by no means be disturbed in its operations, especially during the "fragrance" of the coffee for which they are famous and which is compounded by a secret recipe known only to Mrs. Decelle.

Mr. Anton Schroeder, of St. Paul, who has served as Treasurer of the De l'Epee Memorial Statue Committee since the inception of the project at Cleveland in 1913, having tendered his resignation as Treasurer of the Statue Fund and as a member of the Memorial Committee, and the same having been accepted, Mr. Samuel Frankenheim, 18 West 107th Street, New York City, Chairman of the De l'Epee Memorial Statue Committee, will continue in that capacity and also serve as Treasurer of the Statue Fund in place of Mr. Schroeder, at least for the present.

The full amount of the Statue Fund ($4,729.96), has been turned over to Mr. Frankenheim to whom, in future, all donations should be sent either directly through members of the Memorial Statue Committee.

In this connection I desire to give expression to my personal and official thanks and appreciation of the highly efficient services rendered by Mr. Jay C. Howard, of Duluth, in attending to the details of the transfer of the Statue Fund. Mr. Howard's report is herewith appended.

JAMES H. CLOUD, President,
St. Louis, March 22, 1922.

DR. J. H. CLOUD,
President National Association of the Deaf.

MR. SAMUEL FRANKENHEIM,
Chairman De l'Epee Memorial Statue Committee.

GENTLEMEN:—Upon the resignation of Mr. Anton Schroeder as Treasurer of the De l'Epee Memorial Statue Committee, you requested me to attend to the closing of his account with the Association.

Mr. Schroeder's books were audited by a public accountant. The auditor found Mr. Schroeder's books to be substantially correct.

Mr. Schroeder's last published report under date of March 15th, 1921, showed total receipts of $3,669.85, disbursements of $286.17, and a balance to the credit of the Committee of $3,383.69.

Upon closing his accounts of November 1st, 1921, total receipts were $3,681.10, disbursements $286.17, and a balance to the credit of the Committee of $3,394.93.

However, there were certain investments outstanding. It was not until March 1st, 1922, that these investments could be liquidated. Upon final settlement as of this date, the investments, with accrued interest, gave a net cash balance to the Committee of $4,745.14. Of this sum, $15.18 has been turned over to Mr. Frankenheim. The balance, $4,729.96, in the form of a draft on New York, made payable to Mr. Samuel Frankenheim, Chairman of the De l'Epee Memorial Statue Committee, goes forward with this report.

It is my impression that the De l'Epee Memorial Statue Committee is now in possession of the largest single fund held by The National Association of the Deaf. This speaks well of the manner in which the fund has been handled and it should lend encouragement to those in whose hands the carrying out of the object of this fund will henceforth rest. Contributors can feel assured that the money they have advanced for the furtherance of this worthy object is properly safeguarded, and is so invested that the required amount will be reached with as little demand on the generosity of contributors as is possible.

Respectfully submitting this, my report, I am

Yours truly,
JAY COOKER HOWARD,
DULUTH, MINN., March 16, 1922.

CHICAGO.

"The Mills of the Gods grind slow,
But they grind exceeding small."
And crooks will be filled with woe
If they meddle with us at all.
Two crooks will hang—pray think of that—
Because they frisked the Leiter flat.

The multi-murderer who robbed the Leiter flat February 13th, is caught!

Caught and identified as a direct result of the Leiter robbery; bringing to light a long string of robberies and murders!

As this is written March 23d, Shader has just confessed—after a long grilling by the "third degree"—to the mysterious murder of Patrolman Busse, January 27th, near the Sac, which featured Chicago papers for days.

He and his colored dupe would still be roaming lawless and free, had they not invaded the flat of a deaf couple. Out of some 150 crimes it was the Leiter case that trapped them.

To give events in chronological order, and at length—they are worth giving, for never was a better case of deaf folks working to bring about exact and inexorable justice when all other means failed:

While Harrison Leiter—one of the Grand Trustees of the N. F. S. D.; Chicago delegate to the last frat convention; treasurer of the Silent A. C. (in which capacity he handles some $25,000 yearly); holding a responsible position in the Corn Exchange National Bank—was attending a movie around the corner, two burglars broke into the Leiter flat, 5619 Indiana Avenue, at shortly before six, the evening of February 13th.

Wrenching the arm of young Mrs. Leiter—whom Harry met and won during the frat convention in her home town, Philadelphia, 1918—they forced her to reveal hiding places of valuables. Ripped open the suitcase of a guest, Miss Mabel Johns, Pasadena, Cal., recently returned from abroad, and stole jewels of value. Glenn Smith, a roomer there, was alternate to the Atlanta frat convention, is president of the Sac, and ex-National amateur wrestling champion at 145 lbs. They found a lot of his athletic medals, which they carelessly threw in a corner as not worth stealing. Which made Smith madder than if they had been stolen.

Making Mrs. Leiter promise to have money from the bank ready for their return in the morning, the twain left by the rear just as Leiter entered from the front, and were swallowed up in the night.

Instead of foolishly trying to conceal and keep secret the fact they had been despoiled, the Leiters gave a full account to the Herald and Examiner reporter, and to the police.

One in particular, Detective Sergeant McKenna, of the Wabash Avenue station, evinced indefatigable interest in the case, even working on it when off-duty. All the clue Mrs. Leiter could give was that the two were young, the white man slender and colorless, the other a light mulatto.

Not much of a clue to go by in a city of three million souls. The only real point in it lay in the strange companionship of a white man for a negro.

Time after time Mrs. Leiter was brought to one of the police stations for "show up"—when crooks and suspects were paraded before those complaining of crimes. Always the pretty young matron would sadly shake her head when asked "If this bird is the bug what burgled?"

Now, some months ago a youth, Charles Shader, 19, of 8906 Wentworth Avenue, was arrested and released, after killing his father for—as he claimed—attacking his mother.

A week ago this fellow appeared in print again when his sister was found dead. "Suicide," was the coroner's verdict. "Shot herself because we would not let her marry Frank Lee, 16, a mulatto, of 6140 South Wabash Avenue," explained Shader.

The two—Shader and Lee—were about to be released March 17th, when Weary McKenna heard of it. "Young, white, and negro," immediately left to the officer's tired brain. He persuaded the stockyards station to hold them an hour or two, while he flipped the police flivver for the Leiters.

Now here is coincidence: The burglary occurred just as Mrs. Leiter had her flat sprung up for a party in Miss Johns' honor. Serg. McKenna found the Leiters at another party—Mrs. E. W. Craig's birthday party at her home, two blocks from Leiters.

The Leiters were glad to buzz down in the police flivver to give the suspects the once-over—though without hope, since repeated trips had been fruitless.

"Kitty" Leiter gave one glance at the two and promptly identified them.

Before the roomful of big blue cops could move, Harry Leiter himself—yes, honest, Leiter, who looks so tame and docile he could not hurt a fly—Harry dashed up and laid open Shader's cheek with a Dempsey-like fist. Half a dozen startled cops piled in and saved Shader from further mauling.

The police were jubilant, and promptly set the grilling to work.

Shader and Lee soon admitted a long string of other robberies, many of which had never been reported to the police. Most of the loot was recovered—all of the Leiters' and most of Miss Johns' was.

Lee accuses Shader of killing his father "because they were about to expose him to the police." Lee further alleges Shader's mother acted as "fence" for his swag through her grocery store.

In my twenty-four years on the force I never worked so hard as on this case," said McKenna, after the revelation.

Two others, who deserve unbounded credit for the successful solution of the mystery—which automatically solved countless other unsuspected mysteries—are Lieutenant Lynch and Detective Callahan.

The vaudeville entertainment scheduled by the Sac for Friday, the 17th, fell through. Hearing parties rent the premises every Friday evening under the term of "McCoy Dancing School," couples $1. Neatly printed circulars have been placed with stores in the vicinity.

The following evening, March 18, Johnnie Sullivan managed his annual St. Patrick Party.

The Pas-a-Pas also held a party in its clubrooms in the loop, that night.

The Pas has scheduled something brand new for its "S. A. T." party, April 15. The initials stand for "See America Thirst"—a parody on the popular catch phrase "See America First." Unusual and mirth-provoking features are promised.

The Sac shows its large-hearted helping-hand in the program promised for April 22—a two-hour exhibition of magic, proceeds for Mrs. Nels Olson, "Queen of the Fraternal." She has for months been bed ridden with rheumatism.

Mrs. James Auld has returned from St. Bernard's Hospital, where she recently underwent an operation for pleurisy—the result of flu and pneumonia.

Washington Barrow, a grand trustee of the frats, is confined to his home with a severe muscular strain.

Glenn Urie, Denver, is here hunting work.

Francis P. Gibson has recovered from his recent sickness.

The mother of Louis Israel and Miss Goldie Newman died March 14th, aged 68.

Dates ahead: April 6—Gallaudet College Alumni banquet, All Angels' Church. Gallaudetians only. 8—Cad meeting, at Pas. 15—"See America Thirst" party, Pas.

THE MEAGHERS.

SEATTLE.

An unusual number of deaths have occurred lately, and we have to record three in this letter:

The mother of Mr. L. O. Christenson, Mrs. Grubb, who has been in feeble health for a considerable time, due to old age, died February 22d, and was buried February 24th, in Washelli Cemetery. The pall bearers were C. K. McConnell, Olof Hanson, A. W. Wright, True Partridge, and two hearing friends. Mrs. Grubb was a member of Rebecca Lodge, and the funeral services were conducted under the auspices of this order, with Rev. Gaertner interpreting for the deaf. She was 72 years old.

Mrs. Al. W. Lorenz, of Tacoma, died March 2d and was buried March 4th. She was 48 years old. She leaves a husband and four grown children.

The mother of Mr. Andrew J. Genner died Sunday morning, March 12th. The funeral took place at Georgetown, March 15th. She was 56 years old. Eight children survive her, four of whom are married.

The new officers of the Puget Sound Association of the Deaf, elected at the February meeting, entered on active duty March 11th. They are C. A. Gumaer, President; Bryan Wilson, Vice-President; Miss Gladys Hess, Sergeant-at-Arms; L. O. Christenson and J. T. Bodley, members of Board. Mr. True Partridge and A. O. Wright are the Trustees. The Association has about $800.00 invested in bonds and securities, the interest from which goes a long way to help for hall rent and other expenses. It was voted to appropriate $25.00 to help members who are out of work and out of funds.

The "hard times" party, on February 25th, proved a very enjoyable affair. No difficulty was experienced in finding old clothes to wear for the occasion, consequently nearly all were in costume. The dancing was in keeping with the costumes. Prizes of a dollar each were awarded, for the most comic outfit, to Miss Gladys Hess and Mr. Joe Kirshbaum, and for the neatest rig to Miss Rosie Claves and Mr. Thierle Floyd.

Burglars tried to enter the home of Mr. J. T. Bodley and his neighbor on the night of February 27th, but were scared away without obtaining anything of value. Mrs. Bodley, who lives with the Bodleys, noticed a light on the ceiling, but thought it a reflection from an automobile, and paid no attention to it. But she had occasion to get up, and turned on the light, which probably scared the burglar away. Next morning the neighbors reported hearing a noise under the window. On examination a box was found under the window, and the screen had been pried off. The light observed was probably due to a flashlight used to find the screen fastenings. An attempt had also been made to open the neighbor's window, but a baby sleeping in the room was awakened and cried loudly for mamma, and this also, it is thought, was more than the burglars had bargained for.

A dinner was given by Mrs. Hanson, on February 26th, in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuhn. Mr. Andrew Genner and Miss Jessie Busby were also invited guests.

Birthday parties among the ladies have been frequent during the last few months, the following being among those thus remembered: Mrs. Haire, Mrs. West, Mrs. Bodley, Mrs. Boston, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Wilfang, and Mrs. Dortero. The last one was held, Sunday, at the home and Mrs. Dortero, and as a typical affair a description may be of interest. The ladies brought sandwiches and cake. The hostess furnished coffee. Cards and conversation made the time pass quickly. Many of the ladies also brought small gifts in the form of embroidery, dollies, caps, bric-a-brac, and other articles dear to the feminine heart. Those present on this occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mrs. West, Mrs. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Bodley, Mrs. Boston, Dr. Mrs. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. McConnell, Mr. Kirshbaum, Misses Chapman, Hess, and Carr, and Mr. Bryan Wilson, Mrs. Gustin and Mr. Sidney Raisen.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Koberstein in February, at the Fairlands Sanitarium, where Mrs. Koberstein has been a patient in the tuberculosis department for several years. We hope the little one will not inherit the infirmity of his mother.

Mr. Carl Garrison came in from Camano Island and attended the Puget Sound Association of the Deaf meeting, March 11th. His wife and all the children had the flu at the same time, and Carl was nurse, cook, housekeeper, chauffeur, and everything. To make matters worse, the crank on his automobile kicked back and skinned his fingers, making it painful for him to use them when most needed. But, in spite of all, Carl smiles as cheerfully as usual. Mr. Oscar Sanders, who is with him, also had a mild attack of the flu, but not serious. All the family are on the road to recovery.

Work here as elsewhere is rather scarce, and several of the deaf are out of work, while others have work only part time.

William B. West writes an interesting letter from Alaska. He and his father, Jesse, have been prospecting the past winter, and have staked three claims, which, with two more which they expect to buy, will keep them busy for many years. They are located 75 miles from Dawson, and their P. O. address is Miller Creek, Yukon Territory, Canada. They intend to cut 200 cords of wood before spring, for use in their mining operations which they expect to start next fall. Many prospectors are making fortunes in that district. Three men struck rich pay just four miles from their claim and took out $120,000 worth of gold last winter, and now they have twenty men working for them and expect to take out half a million this winter. One of the lucky fellows is a student at the University of Washington. But they worked two years before they struck it rich. There is plenty of game, especially Caribou, which may be seen in great numbers every day.

Last fall they killed twelve, and could have killed hundreds of them, but only killed what they could use. They have meat every day. They like the Alaska climate. It is crisp and cold. Not much snow, but plenty cold. One morning the thermometer registered 62 below zero. But notwithstanding the cold they go out and cut wood every day. Daylight in December is from 10 A.M. till 4 P.M. But in summer they have daylight twenty-four hours a day. A daily paper called the News is published at Dawson. Single copies are 25 cents, and special editions sell for 50 cents a copy.

Jesse West, who is a graduate of the Ohio School, has been in Alaska for a number of years. His son, William, who is also deaf, joined him last year. They feel confident of bringing a fortune out of Alaska. Both are big, hardy, stalwart specimens of manhood, and if this, combined with pluck, grit and perseverance, will attain their object, they surely will make it. We surely hope they will strike it rich, and some day come back to Seattle with a good-sized fortune to enjoy as the well earned reward of toil and hardship.

OLUF HANSON.

Traffic Whistles for Denver Blind

Blind residents of Denver soon will be assured of safe passage across busy streets by means of commanding blasts on police whistles which will be furnished to them free by the city, according to Jim Goodheart, head of the public welfare department.

When a blind person blows his whistle, traffic officers will see that all traffic is suspended until the blind pedestrian is safely across.

A few words of information in a letter postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

DEAF-MUTES' UNION LEAGUE

On Wednesday evening, March 22d, the Deaf-Mutes' Union League held Whist and Dancing Contests at its rooms, 143 West 125th Street.

The attendance was not as numerous as on former occasions, consequently giving those present more elbow room and much pleasure. The prize winners in at Whist were:

LADIES—First prize, Mrs. Marcus H. Marks; second prize, Miss Rose Leibel; third prize, Mrs. Samuel Lowenherz.

GENTLEMEN—First prize, Joseph Sturtz; second prize, Henry Peters; third prize, Jacques Alexander.

In the Dancing contest only the waltz was considered. Of the fifteen couples starting all were eliminated except four, and finally the Judges, headed by Mr. Abraham Barr, decided on Mr. Samuel Berch and Miss Betty Nooger as the winners. They each received a loving cup, which they highly prized. The winners in the Whist contest were also well pleased with the prizes they received.

BASKET BALL.

It was a real basket ball night in the gymnasium of St. Ann's Church, last Saturday evening, March 25th.

The V. B. G. A. A. met the Blue Bird Club and vanquished them by the score of 10 to 2.

The Fanwood Girls were beaten in a close game by the Girls team of the State School for the Deaf at Trenton, N. J. The score at the finish was 23 to 20 in favor of the New Jersey team.

Between one hundred and fifty and two hundred saw the games from the tiers of circus seats with which the court is provided.

On the same evening, in Hartford, Ct., the crack team of the New York Institution, known as the Fanwood Seniors, won a decisive victory over the Hartford School team, the score being 45 to 26 in Fanwood's favor. Rockwell's boys put up a plucky game, but Lux's proteges outlasted them.

H. A. D. NOTES.

Dr. Louis I. Newman, Rabbi of Temple Israel, proved a most interesting speaker at our services last Friday evening, March 24th. His topic was "On Being a Jew." Dr. Newman made a favorable impression on those who were privileged to hear him. Rev. A. J. Anateau interpreted admirably.

Motion Pictures were shown on Sunday evening, the 27th.

Please note that our Athletic Carnival and Dance has been postponed from Saturday evening, April 8th to April 15th. The change was made necessary to enable the professional talent to appear.

Mrs. Rose Bernstein, widow of Joe Bernstein, of Hammond, Ind., and will be remembered by her numerous friends as formerly Rose Racine, of New York and St. Louis, is being besieged by invitations to be the guest of friends before her return West.

At this writing, Mrs. A. A. Cohn had the pleasure of having her for the entire day and now is undergoing the impatience of waiting to claim the honor of Mrs. Bernstein's delightful company for another day or two.

Mrs. Maud Green was married to Mr. Lyman H. Metzger in February, 1922, and the happy couple are living in Brooklyn, at the home of the bride's mother. Mrs. Metzger during her school days was Maud Emrick.

Mrs. Richard M. Sherman, of 210 West 107th Street, New York City, announces the engagement of her daughter, Margaret, to Mr. Harry A. Gillen. The date of the wedding has not been decided.

Mrs. Wm. Meisinger (nee Ida May Brod) was called suddenly to Jersey City on the 17th. Her mother passed away at the age of 72. Burial was in Phillipsburg, N. J.

Samuel Frankenstein and Henry C. Kohlman have gone to Atlantic City for a week.

HIPPODROME'S NEW FEATURES APPEALING

Charles Dillingham announces a continuation of the short special Christie film travesty on Douglas Fairbanks and "The Three Musketeers" entitled "A Barnyard Cavalier," as one of the features for the thirtieth week of "Get Together" at the Hippodrome.

This season the spring visitors will see Joe Jackson, the tramp bicyclist; the Land of Imagination Scene staged by R. H. Burnside, with Elna Hansen and Senia Gluckoff in the principal dancing roles of the ballet, "The Butterflies and the Bees" and "Happy" Lambert in the principal singing role, the Happy Hoboes and the Ducons Brothers, all added to the big bill since the autumn, while the other features include the ice ballet, "The Red Shoes" with Charlotte, Katie Schmidt, Howard Nicholson, Paul Kreckow and Steele and Winslow, as well as Bert Levy, Ferry Corvey, The Three Bobs and their crew, "Jacko," the Graf Trio, Power's Performing Elephants, and the army of Hippodrome clowns, headed by Marceline, "Toots" and George Davis.

Matinees of "Get Together" are given daily, while the scale of prices is the lowest in Hippodrome history.

DEATH OF MRS. A. B. GREENER

Though ill since March 1st and hopes of the family that she would ultimately recover, yet such was not to be, and so in the early hours of Sunday morning, March 19th, unexpectedly and without warning, her gentle spirit joined the great majority above. The nurse had just a minute before, at Mrs. Greener's wish slightly changed her position, and then came a fleeting breath, and it was the last she drew, for when her daughter May and husband came to her beside, a moment later, a lifeless form lay before them. Only those who have undergone such an experience can understand the unutterable grief that came over the members of her household.

Her son George, of Boston, and daughter, Mrs. John K. Sherman, and her family, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; her sister, Mrs. Mary L. Davis, of Dixon, Ill., with her son Edwin of Chicago, and her son-in-law, Mr. Kridler, of Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Soller and children of Greenacres, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson, of near Groveport, old friends of the family, came to extend aid and sympathy to the stricken family, as did also the Institution friends and deaf of the city, and neighbors. Messages expressing grief and extending sympathy also came from distant friends. The many beautiful floral tributes which surrounded the bier of Mrs. Greener bespoke the tender esteem in which the deceased was held in life.

"A perfect woman, nobly planned To warn, to comfort, and to command; And yet a spirit still and bright In unobtrusive, domestic light— With something of angels' light."

The funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the Schoedinger chapel, which was filled to capacity with sorrowing friends. Dr. S. S. Palmer of Broad Street Presbyterian Church, officiated, Rev. Uiten Read of the School, interpreting. After the opening prayer Dr. Palmer read two stanzas of the hymn, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," and at the close of the services read two stanzas of "Rock of Ages Cleft for Me." Then those who wished took a last look at their friend, whose countenance portrayed the beauty as was her character, beautiful in life.

Interment was made in Green lawn Cemetery near the resting place of her daughter, Nelle, who preceded her in November, 1920.

The pallbearers were Mr. Thomas Roller, Mr. John K. Sherman, and Mr. Walter Kridler, sons-in-law, Mr. Ernest Zell, King Sherman, grandson, and her son, George C. Greener.

Hannah Davis Greener was born in Wales, May 14, 1845, coming later to America with her parents, who settled at Niles, Ohio. At the age of four years she lost her hearing from scarlet fever, and in 1859 was entered as a pupil in the State School for the Deaf at Columbus, from which she was graduated in June, 1869. In the fall of the same year she was appointed as a teacher, holding the position for seven years, when she was married to Mr. A. B. Greener, June 20, 1876. The wedding took place in the chapel of the School for the Deaf, in the presence of the officers, teachers and pupils. To this union five children were born, one of whom died in infancy. The youngest, Nelle, G. Kridler, passed away November 13, 1920.

She leaves two daughter—Louise May, in the home; Mrs. John K. Sherman of Grand Rapids, Mich., and one son, George C. Director of the North Bennett Street Industrial School, Boston, Mass., besides seven grandchildren. She also leaves a brother, of Niles, O., and a sister, Mrs. Mary Davis, of Dixon, Ill.

Mrs. Greener was active in charitable work and was one of the charter members of the Ladies' Aid Society, working for the Home for Aged and Infirm Deaf, in which she was deeply interested.

AN APPRECIATION

In the home of our dear friend is where she shone. In it she reigned as a sweet and loving mother, ever mindful of the comfort and happiness of her devoted husband and children. Not only was she thoughtful of them, but was always thinking of the welfare of others. Her friendly smile greeted all. To be permitted to enter into this family circle was indeed a benediction. "None knew her but to love her; none named her but to praise." She was one of those whom it was a pleasure to know, and once knowing her was ever to cherish her as a friend.

Miss Alda Davis, a graduate of the school, 1910, died March 18th in Cleveland, Ohio, where she was employed. She was stricken with apoplexy while employed in a factory and taken to the city hospital three weeks previous to the final summons. The management under whom she was employed and the city deaf visited her daily and left flowers, and it was hoped she would in time recover. However, heart failure, the stoppage of her heart on the above date, caused her end. The remains were sent to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Finley Davis, of St. Paris, Ohio, for burial, whom she leaves to mourn, besides a brother, Jesse, whose whereabouts are unknown. We tender the bereaved parents our sincere sympathy in their loss, as we ourselves suffered a like affliction in the separation of one who was our life's companion for over 46 years.

The Social under the auspices of the Wednesday Evening Club, for the benefit of the moving picture machine fund for the Home for Aged Deaf, was given in the girls' recreation hall last Saturday afternoon and evening. It was well attended and proved entertaining to all. The net receipts will be slightly over fifty dollars. The S. S. C. girls, who are supporting three little French deaf orphans in school, will give a sale and social in the girls' recreation hall April 15th.

The three children are attending La Malgrange School in France, and reports received from the Superintendent regularly say the children are getting along nicely. The money that is to be raised is for clothing and other necessities for the children. The S. S. C. girls have been supporting these children for several years and will continue to do so until they are through school hence. We hope their forth coming social will receive a hearty response, for what is more noble than helping our fellow beings, especially children who need our support.

The Literary and Social Club formed by the young ladies of the School and city last month was entertained, Friday evening, the 17th, by Mrs. C. W. Charles, at her home on Ohio Avenue. The Club decided upon a name, the 20 C. C. Rev. C. W. Charles gave a talk on Saint Patrick, after which the guests were given a series of questions to answer on the topic spoken, after which dainty refreshments were passed around. All voted they had spent a profitable and enjoyable evening.

Mr. J. B. Showalter was in Dayton Saturday and Sunday, taking part in the anniversary social of the Dayton Div. No. 8, of the N. F. S. D. Sunday afternoon, he conducted religious services at which over one hundred deaf were present. Mr. Charles Brown was also in Dayton on Sunday.

The last meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society was held in Trinity Chapel, on the evening of March 16, with an attendance of 21 members. Mrs. Wm. Sprague, of Reynoldsburg, an associate member, was a visitor.

The treasurer, Mrs. Edgar, made her report for February, showing for that time receipts of $15.60 and expenditures of $15.00 being for the laundryette washer.

The Corresponding Secretary was ordered to express the Society's sorrow and sympathy to Mr. Wm. Kleinhaus of Cleveland, because of the recent death of Mrs. Kleinhaus.

Mrs. Ella Zell reported the purchase of washer and mangle for the Home, and that the committee of which she is chairman had been at the Home recently and found the machinery was giving great satisfaction. The laundering is so different now from the old way. It can be washed and dried in a day. The Sick Committee reported that flowers had been sent to Mrs. Wm. Friend and Mrs. A. B. Greener.

Mrs. Eshelman asked permission for the W. E. Club to use the society's dishes for the evening of March 18th, which was granted.

The laundry committee was tendered a rising vote of thanks for what it had done in securing the equipment for the Home.

The next reunion of the Ohio School Alumni Association is to be held September 1st, 2d, 3d, 1922. Those desiring reservation of rooms should write to Mr. A. J. Beckert. More will be said on the matter later.

DETROIT.

The long looked for "Chariot Race," from "Ben Hur," was given before a fair-sized but appreciative audience, at the D. A. D., March 18th, by Asa Stutsman. The realistic and dramatic manner in which he represented the horses, the drivers, and even the amphitheatre, was so thrilling that all who saw it actually imagined they were among those who saw the famous race. It was not an ordinary lecture, and those stay-at-homes do not realize the one grand time they missed. The next time Asa is scheduled to appear before the D. A. D. or any other organization, there sure will be a packed house.

St. Patrick's day was fittingly observed by the members of the Literary Society at the D. A. D. An appropriate programme was held, in which green was the popular color, worn by all those that attended. Miss Eva Vanasse is the new efficient leader. The next and last meeting will be held April 19th.

A record breaking crowd attended both services of the Rev. C. W. Charles Sunday, March 18th. On April 9th, Bishop Williams will confirm several deaf people. After the service in the afternoon the Ephphatha Mission held its quarterly business meeting. President Hubn being absent, on important business pertaining to N. F. S. D. affairs, Vice President R. V. Jones presided. The most important business transacted was the merging of the morning Bible class and the evening Bible service into one.

Both meetings will hereafter be held at 3 P.M., in St. John's Chapel every Sunday. Leader Peter McNulty and R. V. Jones will do their part alternately. As no dissenting vote was cast against the change, a large crowd is expected every Sunday.

Gerald Sanger, a nephew of Ben and Ralph Beaver, is a student at the U. of M. Gerald thinks the world of his uncles and they are justly proud of him, as he was valedictorian of a class of 200 at the Miami, Fla., High. Ben and Ralph are looking forward to the time when he will duplicate the record at the University of Michigan. During his leisure time Gerald is always at either Ben or Ralph's home.

Miss Alex. Lobsinger, the capable and amiable President of the Aux, undoubtedly has something up her sleeves for the future, and is going to make things hum in a financial way for that popular organization. Any rumor that the Aux is tottering only brings a smile of disdain upon her pretty face. The Aux has about $400 in its treasury.

Wm. Japes, the great traveler, is back again among friends, brim full of interesting news from the wild and woolly west. He reports having a tip top time and praises to the roof the hospitality of his western friends.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Mrs. Wilbur I. Wells, on March 10th, in Royal Oak, Mich., in honor of her birthday, by a few intimate friends. Many beautiful and useful pretty presents were received by the happy Mrs. Wells. Those present were Messrs. H. B. Waters, Edward Luchow, John G. T. Berry, Mrs. Osmonson, Mrs. Cummings, and the Misses Naomi Dell Tucker and Ada Simpkins.

The Misses Helma and Nina Sanquist and Harold Holmes were recent visitors in our big village. Little Miss Dorothy Crough made her debut recently in Walkerville, Ont. Dorothy's grandmother, Mrs. Buchanan, is still with the Croughs. Friends of Fred Bengray will be interested to know that he has been employed at the Marquette (Mich.) News Company for several years. He still enjoys single blessedness, notwithstanding reports to the contrary.

Philip Bednarek is back from Bay City, and is employed at his old job with the Ainsworth Manufacturing Company.

Edward Loder, a young fellow from Flint, Mich., did not allow the unemployed question to bother him. He secured work immediately upon his arrival here at the Motor Metal Company.

Adolph Kresin, of Port Huron, came all the way to Detroit to attend Rev. Charles' service and to pay a flying visit to his sister. He attended the Chariot Race reading Saturday.

Miss Naomi Dell Tucker made a pleasant visit to her former school-mate and chum, Mrs. Harry C. Friday, in Royal Oak, Mich.

Mr. Wm. Burke, the recently arrived New York linotype operator, met with a painful accident. While at work molten lead burnt his hand quite severely. He received a compensation of $25 for the accident.

Mrs. Frances McMahon, for thirty years a cigarmaker, will undoubtedly be obliged to seek some other trade. A new process has been invented in which cigars can be made by machinery.

April 8th will see Judge Keider give a lecture at the D. A. D. Ivan Heymannson requests that every deaf person attend, and make a good impression upon this distinguished Judge.

The River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co. has started in full blast. The Highland Park plant has started on a five-day a week plan. The numerous deaf employees of these plants are consequently jubilant. Only bona fide Detroiters will be taken in at these plants. Ex service men preferred. So don't rush to this city expecting jobs.

PHILADELPHIA.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1038 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The many friends and admirers of Mr. Robert Middleton Ziegler will be shocked and pained to learn that on Sunday afternoon, March 19th, he suffered a slight paralytic stroke on the right side and he has been abed ever since. We feel the keenest sympathy for him, as the attack was probably due in part to the worry and labor of preparing the proceedings of the Pittsburgh Convention for the printer, Mr. Ziegler having worked late into the nights. He had just finished the laborious work, which had been delayed by the long and serious illness of Mrs. Ziegler, who has now almost returned to normal health.

Only the close friends of the family know what a dutiful and devoted husband he has been, and similarly only those who possess a fair insight into the affairs of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf, know what a faithful and hardworking officer he is. He is known as the "Father of the P. S. A. D.," because he was chiefly instrumental in founding it, and during all the forty odd years during which it has existed, Mr. Ziegler has singularly and conspicuously stood out as its most zealous and faithful friend, its staunchest supporter and ablest defender. Many more good things can be said of Mr. Ziegler, whose moral standing in this community is very high, even though he has not aligned himself with any particular denomination; but we are not writing an eulogy, and only wish to show why his many friends here feel grieved over his illness, and sincerely hope that his recovery will be speedy and permanent.

The news of Mr. Ziegler's serious illness did not become generally known until Thursday evening, March 23d, when the sad news was given out by Mr. Geo. T. Sanders before the Clerc Literary Association. It caused great surprise, and many expressions of sorrow were uttered by those at the meeting. The next day the visits to the bedside increased.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan G. Stern (nee Miss Beatrice A. Osserman, of New York) are receiving the congratulations of friends on the birth of a boy, on the 23d of March, 1922. The youngster has been named Horace A. Stern, after Sylvan's uncle, Judge Horace A. Stern, we believe. May he also become a judge someday!

Mrs. Anna Roland, one of our older deaf and a widow, died on Saturday afternoon, March 18th, in the Philadelphia Hospital, after a long illness. She came here originally from Reading, Pa., and was long a familiar figure at the services and meetings in All Souls' Church for the Deaf. Although suffering from chronic disease, she was one of the most regular attendants at the services and meetings, and continued so until a few years ago, when necessity required her confinement at the Hospital. She was lonesome and unhappy there; but, having no relatives to care for her, it was really the best place for her case. We were all sorry for her, and several of our number visited her at times. We believe she was over seventy years of age.

Mrs. Roland had wisely protected herself with burial insurance; and, as a result, she had a very neat burial. Her funeral took place from Carroll's undertaking establishment on North 4th Street, between Race and Vine Streets, on the following Tuesday afternoon. A number of deaf had viewed her remains on the previous evening.

Peace be to her soul!

Mr. and Mrs. Theodora B. Souder and son, of Wilmington, Del., spent the week-end in New York City last week, as the guests of Mrs. Roy Wheeler and Mr. and Mrs. George Rawlston, formerly of Washington, D. C. All enjoyed the sights.

Mrs. Roy Wheeler is returning to her old home in Chattanooga, Tenn., as she was widowed three weeks ago. Her husband, Mr. Roy Wheeler, was killed by a fall from a twelve story building in New York. Much sympathy is felt for her and her two sons.

Mr. William Bowdle, of Wilmington, Del., was surprised by a little party of his friends in honor of his birthday, last Thursday evening, March 23d. Those who were present were: Mr. and Mrs. Theodora B. Souder, Mr. and Mrs. Lindell Fell, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Breeding and two children, and Mrs. Bowdle. Refreshments were served by his wife, and all wished him many more happy birthdays.

The local Frats' St. Patrick's Day "hop," held at the Grand Fraternity on Saturday evening, March 18th, was fairly successful and very enjoyable. But for the fact that other meetings were scheduled for the same evening, we might have a better showing to report.

Owing to other meetings, the Local Branch, P. S. A. D., which was to have a business meeting on the 18th of March, was unable to muster a quorum.

Mrs. Chas. McMann and Mrs. Adolph Pfeiffer, of New York, were visitors at All Souls' Church on the 12th of March, 1922.

Andrew Leitch, late of Baltimore, Md., has secured a position with the National Publishing Company here, where Mr. McKinney formerly worked.

FANWOOD.

On March 24th the teachers and pupils were gathered in the chapel, where medals were awarded to the winners of the basket ball tournament. The medals were awarded as follows:—Senior Tournament—Gold Medals: Casper Bylinski, Natalie Cerniglio, Albert Sumner, James Stewart, Richard Marshall, and Clinton Conklin. Silver Medals: Thomas Whalen, Sam Zadra, Edmund Hicks, Rudolph Behrens, Tony Walligora; and Harold Yager.

Girls' Tournament—Gold Medals: Thursia LaMour, Sarah, Egan, Gertrude Lefkowitz, Edna Adams, Florence Kaiser, Lucy Tichenor, Mabel Pearsall, and Rachel Shapiro. Silver Medals: Ethel Brenneison, Mary Hertzlinger, Mildred Heinter, Avis Allen, Anna Kaplan, Mary Bolossomi, and Jennie Salta.

Boys' Junior Tournament:—Silver Medals: Nicholas Cairano, Nathan Morrell, Fred Parker, Victor Kupersmith, and Louis Rosensweet. Bronze Medals: Charles Knoblock, Alfred Ederheimer, Charles Wamsley, John Whately, Albert Wheeler, and Daniel Fox.

Midlet Tournament:—Bronze Medals (1st): Leonard Benjamin, Davie Retzker, Kaple Greenberg, Fred Hoffman, Solomon Wentnick, and Leo Pavelsky. Bronze Medals (2d): William Wyatt, Jacob Gleicher, Leonard Scholze, Percy Schwing, Martin Smith, and Lellie Williams.

The medal for the best shooter was awarded to Ben Shafrank, and for best guard to Sam Zadra.

On Saturday, March 25th, the Fanwood Basket Ball team led by Manager Frank Lux, took the train for West Hartford, Connecticut, at 1:03 P.M. They had a fine journey, and viewed the different and beautiful changes of scenery as they travelled. This increased their enjoyment and added to their knowledge. They arrived at the Hartford Station at 4:24 P.M., and were met by Mr. Joseph Bouchard, the Athletic Coach of the American School for the Deaf, and Mr. Walter C. Rockwell, the former Coach. Mr. Rockwell took them in his automobile to the American School for the Deaf, about two miles distant from the station. When the Fanwood team reached the school, the pupils big and little came out of the sitting-room and welcomed the visitors most pleasantly. They were both gentle and kind in helping the players, carrying the satchels to their bed-rooms. There was time for general conversation until supper was announced. After supper, the Fanwood players visited the girls' club-room, where they had a most agreeable time with the young ladies. Then Mr. Rockwell took the players in an auto bus to the gymnasium at Town Hall, which belongs to the American School.

The evening's entertainment was to have started with a preliminary game between the American School Junior Five, and the Port Chester High School, but this was canceled. The people became interested as they witnessed the two teams, the American School and Fanwood, warming up for the game. As the play opened between the two teams, it was plain that both were well-drilled and that the game would be exciting and close. The Fanwood Five led the way to the finish of the first half, the score standing 21 to 13. Cadet Emil Mulfeldt, the captain of the Fanwood tossers, caged a long clean shoot into the net in the first few minutes, and the spectators seemed to consider it quite a wonderful throw. From the start to the finish the play was fast and furious, but clean and sportsmanlike, alike creditable to both schools. The Fanwood tossers managed to keep ahead and finally won the game, the score standing American School 26, Fanwood 45. Although they lost, the team of the American School put up a well-played and gentlemanly game, clean in every way.

The line-up and summary:

FANWOOD	A. S. D.
Bylinski	L. F.
Shafrenak	R. F.
Whalen	C.
Mulfeldt, Capt.	L. G.
Jensen	R. G.
	Szoba, Capt.
	Alto
Field goals—Bylinski, 2; Shafrenak, 8; Whalen, 6; Mulfeldt, 2; Kelly, 3; Spring, 4; Harris, 2.
Foul goals—Whalen, 3; Mulfeldt, 6; Spring, 2; Harris, 6.
Substitution—Czech for Jensen.
Referee—Mr. Brennan; Score, Rockwell and Timekeepers—Messrs. Lux and Bouchard. Twenty minutes halves.

After the game, Mr. Bouchard was indefatigable in his courteous attention to the visitors, and served the Fanwoods ice cream and cake. Sometime was spent in dancing and conversation and then the players retired for the night.

The Palette and Brush Club held its regular meeting at the Art room on March 22d. After the reading of the treasurer's report and discussions of the club, Cadet Harold Yager was admitted to it as a new member. Louis Cohen was elected to the office of Treasurer, and Alfred Ederheimer, Secretary.

The players woke up next morning at 7 A.M., and had breakfast a half hour later, showing splendid appetites after a good night's rest. Mr. Bouchard again took the Fanwoodites under his care and showed them the different departments of the new school building, a beautiful one and worthy of Hartford. Mr. Rockwell then took us in the Institution's bus on a tour round the city of Hartford, in all about fifty miles. The Fanwood group enjoyed seeing the city.

Just before the Fanwoods entertained, Messrs. Bouchard and Rockwell added to the sweetness of the homeward journey by distributing two boxes of delicious chocolates. Indeed the Fanwood players received a royal and generous greeting, and came home with memories of the American School which will linger for years to come. And the cake they gave the boys! It is a wonderful product and—well, it did taste fine, super-fine and "delicious."

We must not, however, overlook the fact that, although he was modest, our boys owe much to Prof. Wheeler and his assistants for their really enjoyable visit. The Fanwood players came home with the feeling that Principal Wheeler was a wonderful school, not only as to buildings, but in his pupils, teachers, and all connected with the American School.

On the evening of March 27th, the Fanwood tossers had a sweet little party. Principal Gardner cut the cake and gave some pieces to each player.

Miss Grace Coleman, one of the Faculty of Gallaudet College, visited her mother's Alma Mater (Fanwood) last week. Miss Coleman's father, Thomas Hines Coleman, founded the Florida Institution. Her mother was one of the bright and beautiful girls of her day at Fanwood, and will be remembered as Georgie Decker.

On March 25th, Cadet Sergeant Raymond McCarthy went to Philadelphia to visit the University of Pennsylvania at the Weightman Hall Tank, where the best swimmers from the different universities were to compete. One of them is his pal, Leo Giebel, a star swimmer of Rutgers College and also captain of the swimming team. He won the 220-yard free style.

The four comedians, who were Joseph Krassner, Richard Pokorny, Frank Heintz and Harold Yager, entertained the members of the Fanwood Literary Association, in the chapel, on March 23d. They probably will be movie comedians some day.

Arbor Day Proclamation.

In accordance with the provisions of law requiring the Commissioner of Education to designate the day to be observed as Arbor Day in this State, the following dates are hereby named for the various sections of the State:

First District. Long Island and the counties of southeastern New York, including Putnam and Dutchess—Friday, April 14th.

Second District. All of the State not included in the first and third districts—Friday, April 21st.

Third District. Northern New York, including the counties of Warren, Hamilton, Herkimer, Lewis, Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Franklin, Clinton and Essex, and the Catskill region in the counties of Ulster, Delaware and Greene—Friday, April 28th.

An intelligent planting of trees and shrubs on school grounds does much toward making school life happier for both teachers and pupils. And not only the planting is essential, but it is equally necessary that there be proper care during all the days following Arbor Day. It is the hope of the Education Department that all our schools will take advantage of the opportunity afforded by Arbor Day, not only through formal exercises, but also by planting trees and shrubs that will beautify the school grounds.

It is suggested that, should weather conditions on the date designated in any section be unfavorable to permit carrying out any proposed program which includes tree planting, the exercises should be postponed for one week.

FRANK P. GRAVES,
Commissioner of Education.

Life Insurance in this Company, as a rule, costs you nothing. Looking back after 10 or 15 years have gone by,
you know that if you had not saved that money for your annual premium, you would not have saved it at all!

The New England Mutual (Oldest Chartered Life Insurance Company in U.S.)
offers you the most liberal policy contract possible.

No discrimination against deaf-mutes. No charge for medical examination.

You gain nothing by delay.
